DESCRIPTION:

The American Medical Association (AMA) Current Procedural Terminology (CPT®) book describes a consultation as a type of evaluation and management service provided at the request of another physician, other qualified health care professional, or appropriate source to recommend care for a specific condition or problem.

Effective January 1, 2023, the AMA extended the framework for code selection for office and outpatient visits that was implemented in 2021 to the remainder of E/M services that were selected based on history, exam, medical decision making or time. Consultation services no longer require the three key components or reference typical face-to-face time. The appropriate level of consultation services should be selected based on a medically appropriate history and/or examination and the level of the Medical Decision Making (MDM) as defined for each service or the total time for the E/M service performed on the date of the encounter

REIMBURSEMENT INFORMATION:

Special note for Florida Blue Medicare Advantage products: Consistent with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) guidelines, Florida Blue does not recognize consultation procedure codes 99242-99245 and 99252-99255 for our Medicare Advantage products. Providers should code a patient E/M visit with procedures that represent where the visit occurs and identifies a visit's complexity using procedure codes 99202-99215, 99221-99223, and 99304-99306, as appropriate.

The following would apply to all Florida Blue commercial products:

As stated in CPT®, the consultant's opinion and any services that were ordered or performed must be communicated by written report to the requesting physician, other qualified health care professional, or other appropriate source.

As with any reported service, documentation must support the codes reported. For consultation services, this would include a request for the consultation and the written report to the requesting provider. In order for Florida Blue to consider a consultation service for reimbursement, the requesting physician or other qualified source must be identified on the claim. If the requesting entity is not identified on the claim, the consultation service will be returned or denied as it does not meet basic CPT® requirements for reporting such a procedure.

Consultation procedures should not be reported by the physician or other qualified health care professional who has agreed to accept transfer of care.

Services initiated by a patient and/or family and not requested by a physician, other qualified health care professional, or other appropriate source should not be reported using CPT® consultation codes 99242-99245 or 99252-99255 or HCPCS consultation codes G0406-G0408, G0425-G0427, G0508, or G0509 but may be reported using appropriate office visit, hospital care, home and residence service procedure codes.

A claim for E/M services that does not meet the criteria as a consultation may be submitted (or resubmitted) with an appropriate non-consultation E/M procedure code and it will be considered for reimbursement.

In addition, AMA guidelines state that only one inpatient consultation (99252-99255) should be reported by a consultant per admission. Florida Blue will only consider one inpatient consultation (99252-99255) per admission, by the same physician or other health care professional. E/M services after the initial consultation during a single admission should be reported using non-consultation E/M procedure codes.

Follow up visits in the consulting physician's office or other outpatient facilities that are initiated by the consultant or patient are reported using the appropriate E/M visit code. If an additional request for an opinion or advice regarding the same or new problem is received from another physician or appropriate source, the office consultation code may be used again. This additional request must be documented in the patient record and may be requested by Florida Blue to verify the appropriate usage of the consultation procedure.
